

Narrative Expansions : Interpreting Decolonisation in Academic Libraries

Jess Crilly

Facet Publishing (Ingram Publisher Services /NBNI) | 9781783304974

£55.00 | PB | 224.pp | November 2021

Libraries across all sectors are responding to the call to decolonise, critically examining their own historic legacies and practices and supporting institutional change. This book brings together current thinking and emerging practices around decolonising the library, providing conceptual frameworks, and describing emerging practices and their impact.

Ripe for Revolution : Building Socialism in the Third World

Jeremy Friedman

Harvard University Press (John Wiley & Sons Ltd) | 9780674244313

£28.95 | HB | 368.pp | January 2022

The Cold War-era experiments of the Global South make clear that socialism is more than Stalinism. Jeremy Friedman looks to Indonesia, Chile, Tanzania, Angola, and Iran to understand how socialism has worked in practice. Each state developed its own socialism, pragmatically addressing local needs and shaping the horizons of socialism today.

The Black President : Hope and Fury in the Age of Obama

£26.00 | HB | 672.pp | October 2021

Combining lively prose with a balanced, nonpartisan portrait of Obama's successes and failures, The Black President will be required reading not only for historians, politics junkies, and Obama fans but for anyone seeking to understand America's contemporary struggles with inequality, prejudice, and fear.

The Obsolete Empire : Untimely Belonging in Twentieth-Century British Literature

Philip Tsang

Johns Hopkins University Press (John Wiley & Sons Ltd) | 9781421441368

£26.00 | PB | 312.pp | November 2021

Ultimately, The Obsolete Empire asks: What does it mean to be inside or outside any given culture? How do large-scale geopolitical changes play out at the level of cultural attachment and political belonging? How does literary reading establish or unsettle narratives of who we are? These questions preoccupied writers across Britain's former empire and continue to resonate today.
