

Bestsellers Catalogue

Dear Bookseller,

We are very pleased to present our new Bestsellers Catalogue, a curated collection of bestselling titles and series from some of our outstanding client publishers. This selection of trade and art books brings together recent bestsellers, key series, and backlist highlights, alongside a number of exciting forthcoming releases.

Within these pages, you will find timely social commentary, world and European history, and biographies that uncover never-before-seen stories, as well as beautifully produced art books with breathtaking illustrations. You will also discover cutting-edge fiction — entertaining, moving, sharp, witty, ground-breaking. The catalogue also spans philosophy, business and communications, music, memoir and culture, as well as cookbooks, activity titles, stunning gift books, and much more, offering something for every reader and every bookshelf.

For ease of reference, highlights from our publishers have been collated and organised in alphabetical order. An order form is available on our website and has also been sent to you via email.

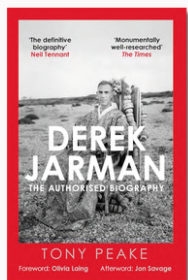

We hope you enjoy exploring this fantastic selection and that you will find a place for these gems on your bookshelves. If you have any queries or would like to place an order, please contact your local representative (details are available on the back of the catalogue), or email us at team@durnell.co.uk.

With very best wishes,
The Durnell Team

The Modulor and Modulor 2

In the years 1942 to 1948, Le Corbusier developed a system of measurements which became known as "Modulor". Le Modulor was published in 1950 and after meeting with success, Le Corbusier went on to publish Modulor 2 in 1955. In many of Le Corbusier's most notable buildings, including the Chapel at Ronchamp and the Unité d'habitation, evidence of his Modulor system can be seen. These two volumes form an important and integral part of Le Corbusier's theoretical writings.

DETAIL

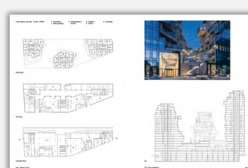

BIG
9783955536725
Hardback | €61
June 2025

BIG is a globally active creative group of architects, designers, urban and landscape planners, interior and product designers, researchers and inventors. BIG's architecture is the result of observing the environment — in keeping with the contemporary way of life. The secret of their architecture lies in the combination of utopia and pragmatism. This expanded new edition of the monograph shows how this can work.

The History War is a book of photographs, collages and ephemera which begins with a timeline tracing Ukraine's evolution from the 5th century and its long struggle for independence. The book is divided into six narratives documenting the events and people Larry Towell encountered in his many journeys to Ukraine

"I believe this project is an important testament to a political crisis that will shape international relations and reverberate through the decades to come."

Silent Witness

9781915423214 | Hardback | £40 | March 2024

Photographs of private houses and public buildings in which war crimes – specifically rapes of women living in Bosnia and Herzegovina – were committed during the Bosnian War are combined with testimonies from the women who survived. The photographs of these buildings – the silent witnesses – allow the stories to be told without exposing those affected to the public again

GOOD WOMAN

A raw and lyrical exploration of the confining expectations of womanhood and, if we dare, what lies beyond those limitations, from a writer Roxane Gay calls 'vibrant and thoughtful.'

Good Woman elegantly probes the knotty conditions themselves, the costs of adhering to them, and what happens when one refuses to comply. The twelve stunning and unforgettable essays blend memoir, reportage, and history to create a collection that is alternately bold, brash, and explosive, and ravishingly tender, sensual, and joyous.

'A stone cold, knock-out punch delivered with the caress of a silk glove.' — Brittany Cooper

SUMMER AT MOUNT ASAMA

The Japanese novel comes of age in this gripping story of love, art and life as a group of architects competes to design the new National Library of Modern Literature in Tokyo.

From honouring ancestors to illustrating the complexities of the living, Summer at Mount Asama is a prize-winning novel beautifully translated by National Book Award winner Margaret Mitsutani, offering a moving and elegant portrait of the clash of modernity and tradition.

‘A love letter to Japan, its modern design and ancient beauty.’
— National Geographic

‘Elegantly understated novel of a tenuous love affair in modern Japan... Packed with ideas about art, life, and love.’
— Kirkus Reviews

‘The more I read, the more I fell in love with this beautiful novel...’
— Hiromi Kawakami

DESIGNING HOPE

When did we stop dreaming of a better future? What happened to the sci-fi golden age of the 1950s, when futurism flourished as a discipline and drove innovation?

As a society, either we struggle to imagine something good for the times to come or we fail to picture any future at all. Our world is in polycrisis; we face climate breakdown, societal fracturing, governmental collapse, war, and rising inequality.

Designing Hope resets expectations. Through the lens of four emerging futures, Sarah Housley shows us visions of hope that inspire action and critical thinking about how we’ll live in the decades to come.

‘We’ve stopped believing in or imagining a future. That’s deadly. Housley’s visionary yet bracingly practical book is an antidote to despair and a manual for our very survival.’
— Charles Foster, author of Cry of the Wild

You Will Feel It in the Price of Bread

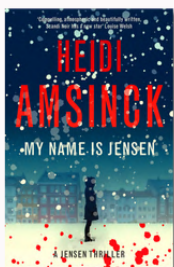

Both a celebration and a lament for Ukraine, a moving personal memoir taking us from Katya's idyllic childhood with her siblings to the sickening impact of Putin's invasion and its effect on Katya, her friends and family. Throughout it all bestrides Babushka, Katya's 'favourite person on earth' still living in the family's apartment block in Kyiv. Combining prose, poetry, collage, maps and illustrations this is a truly immersive memoir — an authentic portrait of the impact of war
