

Abortion in Early Modern Italy

John Christopoulos

Harvard University Press (John Wiley & Sons Ltd) | 9780674248090

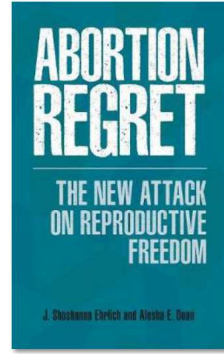

£40.95 | HB | 368.pp | January 2021

John Christopoulos provides a comprehensive account of abortion in early modern Italy. Bringing together medical, religious, and legal perspectives, he explores the meanings of a practice that was officially banned yet widely practiced and generally tolerated, demonstrating that Italy was hardly a haven for Catholic anti-abortion absolutism.

Miriam Haughton

Manchester University Press (IPS UK/NBNI) | 9781526150806

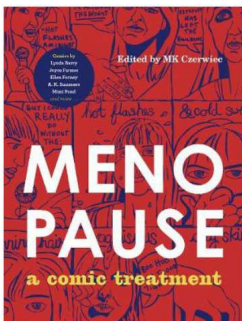

£85.00 | HB | 296.pp | November 2021

Magdalen history has long been marginalised. Even as women's activism and contributions are included in new histories of the revolutionary era, the lives of women regarded as marginal are still excluded. This collection examines how Magdalen history can contribute to a more nuanced, inclusive understanding of post-independence Irish history. -- .
