

ANDREAS MALM
CORONA, CLIMATE, CHRONIC EMERGENCY

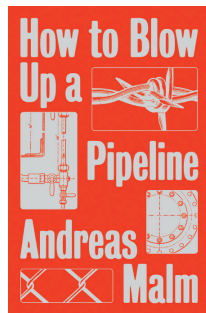

The economic and social impact of the coronavirus pandemic has been unprecedented. If the state can mobilize itself in the face of an invisible foe like this pandemic, it should also be able to confront visible dangers such as climate destruction with equal force. In this first title of the new COVID-19 Pamphlets, leading environmental thinker, Andreas Malm (University of Lund) demands that this war-footing state should be applied on a permanent basis to the ongoing climate front line. He offers proposals on how the climate movement should use this present emergency to make that case. There can be no excuse for inaction any longer.

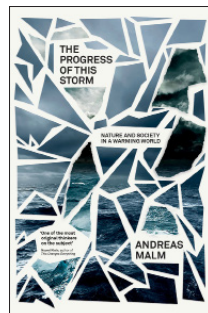

“One of the most original thinkers on the subject.” Naomi Klein
