Neither Vertical nor Horizontal

Rodrigo Nunes

Verso Books (Marston)

9781788733830 | £19.99 | PB | 320 pp.

May 2021

How do we organize in a world after both Occupy and the Sanders campaign? For something so often described as essential, political organisation remains a surprisingly under-theorised field. Nunes redefines the terms of organisational theory, and argues that organisation must be understood as always supposing a diverse ecology of different initiatives and organisational forms.

Everything Must Change

Vittorio Bufacchi

Manchester University Press (IPS UK)

9781526158772 | £14 | HB | 200 pp.

June 2021

Taking its cue from Michel de Montaigne, this book asks what COVID-19 can teach us about the 'art of living'. It examines eight themes from a philosophical perspective, including attitudes to old age, populism and life under lockdown, arguing that the crisis presents opportunities to create a more just society and change our lives for the better.

Embodiment and Everyday Cyborgs

Gill Haddow

Manchester University Press (IPS UK)

9781526114181 | £25 | HB | 208 pp.

Implanting the human body with human/animal organs or implantable devices not only changes what you are but also changes who you are. Using a range of social science methods and drawing on the sociology of the body and embodiment, biomedicine and technology, this book asks what happens to who we are (our identity) when we change what we are (our bodies)?

Forming Sleep

Nancy L. Simpson-Younger

Pennsylvania State University Press (IPS UK)

9780271086125 | £23.95 | PB | 246 pp.

April 2021

A collection of essays exploring how biocultural and literary dynamics acted together to shape conceptions of sleep states in the early modern period. Essays envision sleep states as a means of defining the human, both literally and metaphorically.

Robert Burton's Rhetoric

Susan Wells

Pennsylvania State University Press (IPS UK)

9780271084664 | £26.95 | PB | 224 pp.

June 2021

Wells illustrates how Oxford scholar Robert Burton used the resources available to a seventeenth century academic: genres and languages, as well as academic disciplines such as medicine and rhetoric. Demonstrates how early modern practices of knowledge and persuasion can offer a model for transdisciplinary scholarship today.

Charles Taylor

Harvard University Press (Wiley)

9780674244627 | £11.95 | HB | 120 pp.

March 2020

Today's democracies suffer from two mutually reinforcing ills: declining problem-solving capacities and a growing disconnect between the people and political elites. Reconstructing Democracy offers case studies in citizen efficacy, showing how people can solve problems locally and thereby quell the frustrations that demagogues prey on.

Changing the Subject: Philosophy from Socrates to Adorno

Raymond Geuss

Harvard University Press (Wiley)

9780674248359 | £15.95 | PB | 368 pp.

August 2020

Geuss explores the ideas of twelve philosophers who broke dramatically with prevailing wisdom, from Socrates and Plato in the ancient world to Wittgenstein and Adorno in our own. The result is a striking account of some of the most innovative and important philosophers in Western history and an indirect manifesto for how to pursue philosophy today. Geuss cautions that philosophers' attempts to break from convention do not necessarily make the world a better place.

Radical Thinkers

Theodor Adorno

Verso Books (Marston)

9781788738583 | £9.99 | PB | 256 pp.

October 2020

No other country and no other period has produced a tradition of major aesthetic debate to compare with that which unfolded in German culture from the 1930s to the 1950s. In Aesthetics and Politics the key texts of the great Marxist controversies over literature and art during these years are assembled in a single volume.

The Force of Nonviolence: An Ethico-Political Bind

Judith Butler

Verso Books (Marston)

9781788732772 | £9.99 | PB | 224 pp. |

February 2021

Judith Butler's new book shows how an ethic of nonviolence must be connected to a broader political struggle for social equality. Further, it argues that nonviolence is often misunderstood as a passive practice that emanates from a calm region of the soul, or as an individualist ethical relation to existing forms of power. But, in fact, nonviolence is an ethical position found in the midst of the political field.
