

THOMAS HYLLAND ERIKSEN

THOMAS HYLLAND ERIKSEN (1962–2024) was Professor of Social Anthropology at the University of Oslo and former President of the European Association of Social Anthropologists (EASA). He was among the most highly cited anthropologists of his generation, and his classic and accessible textbook Small Places, Large Issues remains a cornerstone in anthropology courses. His later books, including Overheating, tackled the important issue of climate change within the discipline.

New for 2026

The Big Here and the Long Now: From Global Uniformity to the New Diversities

April 2026
PB: 9780745352220
£19.99 / €25
384pp | 216 x 140mm

The final book from one of the 21st century's most influential social anthropologists and public intellectuals.

For thousands of years, humanity's story was one of diversification. Across centuries and continents, our species proliferated new approaches to family and community life; to agriculture, economics, religion, artistic expression, and self-understanding. Today, this process is in reverse.

Culturally and ecologically, we are witnessing an almost universal drive towards homogeneity and the loss of diversity. The global forces of capitalism have created a world riddled with overlapping crises, with any alternatives pushed into the margins, narrowing the scope for action when we need it most. And yet its logic is never totalizing; contrary to Margaret Thatcher's famous mantra, there are many alternatives.

The Big Here and the Long Now begins with the story of how our world of efficiency, standardization, and development optimism first came into being, and how promises of progress, growth, and prosperity have, in recent years, acquired a nasty aftertaste. The book concludes with hope and an exploration of creolization and hybridity. With biocultural diversity already being revived by activists and indigenous communities, from Manhattan to Micronesia, there are plenty of green shoots. Now they must be cultivated and nurtured.

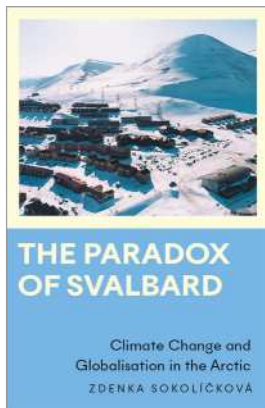

ALSO BY THE AUTHOR

Small Places, Large Issues:
An Introduction to Social and Cultural Anthropology

Thomas Hylland
Eriksen

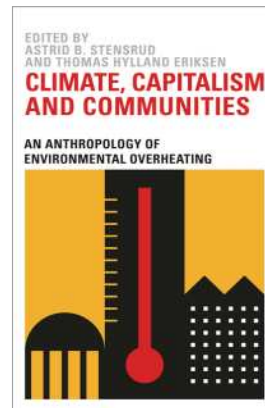

July 2023
PB: £19.99 / €25
9780745348193

The Paradox of Svalbard:
Climate Change and Globalisation in the Arctic

Zdenka Sokolíčková
Foreword by
Thomas Hylland
Eriksen

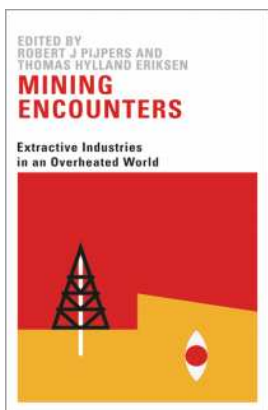

July 2023
PB: £24.99 / €30
9780745347400

Climate, Capitalism
and Communities:
An Anthropology
of Environmental Overheating

Edited by Astrid B.
Stensrud & Thomas
Hylland Eriksen

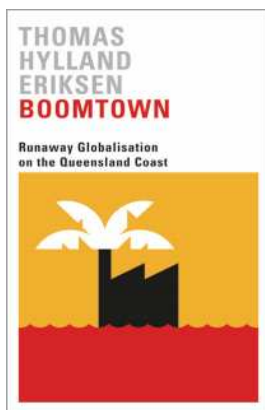

July 2019
PB: £27.99 / €33
9780745339566

Mining Encounters: Extractive Industries in an Overheated World

Robert Jan Pijpers
& Thomas Hylland
Eriksen

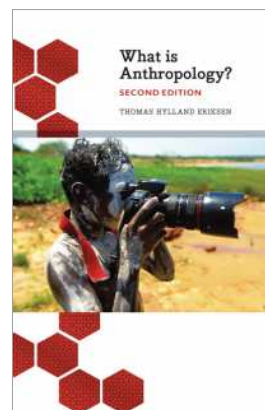

December 2018
HB: £50 / €60
9780745338378

Boomtown: Runaway
Globalisation on the Queensland Coast

Thomas Hylland
Eriksen

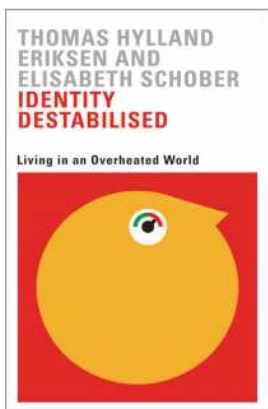

July 2018
PB: £27.99 / €33
9780745338262

What is Anthropology?

Thomas Hylland
Eriksen

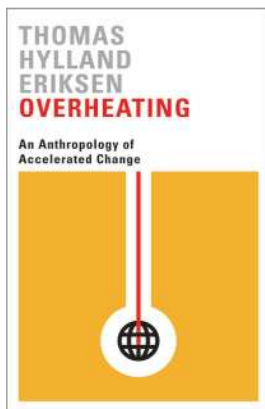

May 2017
PB: £16.99 / €19.99
9780745399652

Identity
Destabilised:
Living in an Overheated World

Thomas Hylland
Eriksen & Elisabeth
Schober

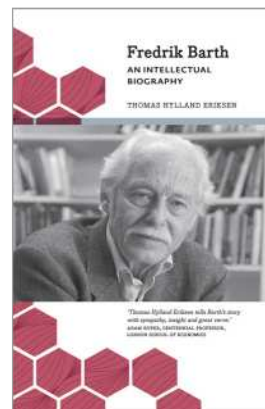

October 2016
PB: £16.99 / €19.99
9780745399126

Overheating:
An Anthropology
of Accelerated Change

Thomas Hylland
Eriksen

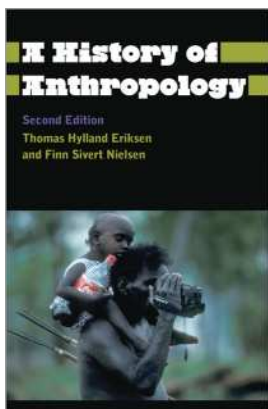

June 2016
PB: £22.99 / €27
9780745336343

Fredrik Barth:
An Intellectual Biography

Thomas Hylland
Eriksen

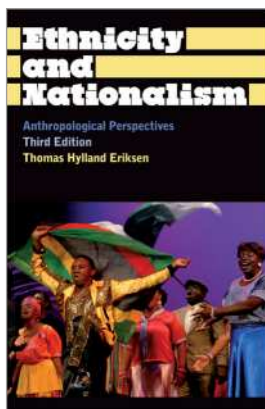

April 2015
PB: £29.99 / €35
9780745335353

A History of Anthropology

Thomas Hylland
Eriksen & Finn
Sivert Nielsen

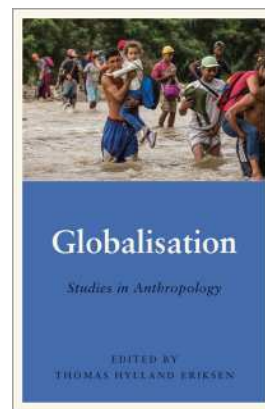

May 2013
PB: £22.99 / €27
9780745333526

Ethnicity and Nationalism:
Anthropological Perspectives

Thomas Hylland
Eriksen

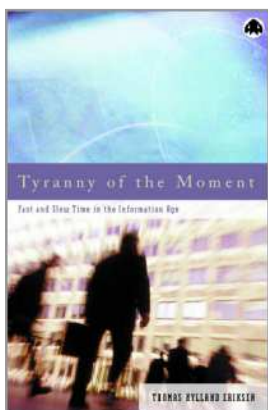

September 2010
PB: £24.99 / €30
9780745330426

Globalisation: Studies in Anthropology

Thomas Hylland
Eriksen

June 2003
PB: £27.99 / €33
9780745320595

Tyranny of the Moment:
Fast and Slow Time
in the Information
Age

Thomas Hylland
Eriksen

August 2001
PB: £29.99 / €35
9780745317748

To place an order, please return this form to Wiley or your local Pluto Sales Representative.

Wiley Distribution Books Team
European Distribution Centre New Era Estate
Oldlands Way, Bognor Regis, PO22 9NQ
E: trade@wiley.com | Tel: +44 (0) 1243 843291

 PLUTO PRESS

The Big Here and the Long Now

From Global Uniformity to the New Diversities

By Thomas Hylland Eriksen

Keynote

A spirited and engaging 'big picture' narrative of how we can reverse capitalism's relentless drive towards biocultural homogeneity

Key Features and Highlights

- Thomas Hylland Eriksen (1962-2024) was one of the 21st century's most influential social anthropologists and public intellectuals. This is his final book
- Eriksen's anthropology textbook Small Places, Large Issues is widely adopted in universities across the world
- For readers of David Graeber, George Monbiot and Jason Hickel

Description

For thousands of years, humanity's story was one of diversification. Across centuries and continents our species proliferated new approaches to family and community life; to agriculture, economics, religion, artistic expression and self-understanding. Today, this process is in reverse.

Culturally and ecologically, we are witnessing an almost universal drive towards homogeneity and the loss of diversity. The global forces of capitalism have created a world riddled with overlapping crises, with any alternatives pushed into the margins, narrowing the scope for action just when we need it most. And yet its logic is never totalising: contrary to Margaret Thatcher's famous mantra, there are many alternatives.

The Big Here and the Long Now begins with the story of how our world of efficiency, standardisation and development optimism first came into being; and how promises of progress, growth and prosperity have, in recent years, acquired a nasty aftertaste. The book concludes with hope, and an exploration of creolisation and hybridity. With biocultural diversity already being revived by activists and indigenous communities, from Manhattan to Micronesia, there are plenty of green shoots. Now they must be cultivated and nurtured.

Author Biography

Thomas Hylland Eriksen (1962 – 2024) was Professor of Social Anthropology at the University of Oslo and former President of the European Association of Social Anthropologists (EASA). He was among the most highly cited anthropologists of his generation, and his classic and accessible textbook Small Places, Large Issues remains a cornerstone in anthropology courses. His later books, including Overheating, tackled the important issue of

PB 9780745352220 £19.99

Publication Date 20 April 2026
Format 216mm x 140mm
Extent 304pp

Subject Areas Social and cultural anthropology; Biodiversity / Ecosystems; Globalization

Thema Code JHMC, RNCB, GTQ

Rights WORLD

Audience General/trade

Related Titles

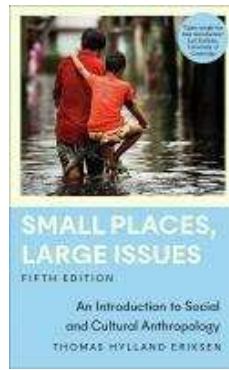

Overheating

Thomas Hylland
Eriksen

9780745336343

£22.99

20th June 2016

Small Places, Large Issues

Thomas Hylland
Eriksen

9780745348193

£19.99

20th July 2023

What is Anthropology?

Thomas Hylland
Eriksen

9780745399652

£16.99

20th May 2017

Table of Contents

Introduction: The big here and the long now

Part I. A global history of standardisation

1. Narratives of loss

2. Everything was not better before

3. The world after 1492

4. The global bulldozers: State and market

5. Global capitalism and flexibility loss

Part II. Overheating in the 21st century

6. The world after 1991

7. The Homogenocene

8. The smartphone and the container ship

9. The botanical garden – and the zoological one

10. Concrete

11. Soil

12. Invasions

13. Language

14. Food

15. The sensory system

16. Modules in an appified world

17. The good homogenisation

Part III. Miracles of creolisation

18. David and Goliath

19. Cracks in the concrete

20. Biocultural reconciliation

21. Crossing boundaries

22. Unclean diversity

23. The miracle of creolisation

24. TAMA